

Family Harmony

Issued by
The Agricultural Extension Service
The Texas A. & M. College System and
The United States Department of Agriculture
G. G. Gibson, Director, College Station, Texas

Family Harmony

Peace and harmony—like charity—begin at home. Family harmony is the foundation of world harmony and peace.

Living together is like singing together. Family members are like members of a choir. A good choir achieves harmony through continued cooperation and practice. Each member of the choir has his own part and each blends with the others to make real harmony.

The Com. N. Tater family, typical of the average farm family, is achieving family harmony. Each member, from Meddy Tater, the grandfather, on down to the youngest member, little Spec Tater, has his own part in the harmony that makes a house a home.

These are the signs of happy home living in the Tater family.

The general climate of our home is pleasant.

We talk over all the things in which all the family have an interest. All family members have a share in making decisions and plans. Our home is democratic.

All members of our family have a share in the work of the home. Even little six-year-old Immy Tater has a definite job.

We have a plan for spending that helps each member learn the wise use of money. Baby Spec Tater has his money, too.

Our family has good times together in the home. Each one of us feels free to invite friends to our home. Ima can bring her friends to lunch.

We try to be as thoughtful and courteous to our family as we are to outsiders. Teen-age Hesi Tater knows good manners begin at home.

Our family makes special days of birthdays and holidays. We plan together ways to spend our holidays together.

Our family expresses thanks before meals and in prayer.

Our family goes to Sunday school and church. We know that religion gives strength and courage, and makes us kinder family members and better neighbors.

Our family keeps up with the news and happenings of the day.

Our family is interested in community affairs and accepts responsibilities in the community.

We stick together as a family and try hard to work things out for harmony in our home.

Through practice in cooperative planning, working, playing and praying together, every family can achieve harmony in home living which is the strongest hope for individual and world peace.

Prepared by
Eloise T. Johnson, Extension Specialist
Family Life Education
Texas A. & M. College System